Short Answer [Each question is worth 3 points.]

Answer the following questions using complete sentences.

29. List and describe the four major symbols for the Jewish people during the second temple period. Temple, land, Torah, and racial identity. The temple was the center of all religious and political life and was an important way the Jewish people held onto their identity. The land was part of God's promise to Abraham and was supposed to be a place of shalom. The Torah provided instructions for behavior and worship. It helped Jews be set apart from pagan neighbors. Racial identity felt important because the Israelites were trying to be pure from foreign influence. They took the command not to intermarry pretty far, even to the point of prejudice.
30. Give three examples of Jewish literature from the second temple period and explain how these works would have helped Jewish people during this period.
Possible answers: 1–2 Maccabees, Judith, Tobit, Bel and the Dragon, Wisdom of Solomon, or Susanna

These stories would have encouraged the Jews to remain faithful to God wherever they were.

31. Name the four Jewish factions during the second temple period and describe their reactions to the pressures of hellenization.
The four factions were the Pharisees, the Sadducees, the Essenes, and the Zealots. The Pharisees resisted hellenization and concentrated on strictly observing the Torah and traditions. The Sadducees collaborated with the hellenistic rulers and benefited from that. The Essenes withdrew to desert communities and isolated themselves from culture. The Zealots fought back against hellenizing powers, especially Rome, with violence.

Essay [This question is worth 5 points.]

Answer the following question with at least one paragraph.

32. Explain the Jews' expectations and hopes during the chaotic time of the second temple period. How are they similar to the hopes of many people today?
Possible answer: During the second temple period, the Jews hoped for salvation, for shalom, for God's kingdom, for forgiveness of sins, and for a messiah figure to set things right. Because times were chaotic, many people hoped for a political or military leader to set things right. They didn't totally understand what God wanted to do. The world today can also seem chaotic and hopeless. It is easy to get discouraged and to wonder why God doesn't do something. Many people today also put their hope in political figures or other messiah-like leaders to come and put everything right.
