SHORT ANSWER [Each question is worth 3 points.]

Answer the following questions with at least one sentence.

20. What is a worldview?

A worldview is the pattern of ideas, beliefs, convictions, and habits that help us make sense of God, the world, and our relationship to God and the world. [1.1–1.2]

21. What are the six dominant Western worldviews covered in this course?

The six dominant Western worldviews are Christianity, Secularism, Marxism, Islam, New Spirituality, and Postmodernism. [1.9]

ESSAY [Each question is worth 4 points.]

Answer the following questions with at least one paragraph.

22. What are the four tests for evaluating worldviews? Summarize each.

- Test of reason: This test asks if a worldview can be logically stated and defended.
- Test of the outer world: This test asks if there is empirical evidence to support the worldview.
- Test of the inner world: This test asks if the worldview can adequately address our personal experiences.
- Test of the real world: This test asks if the worldview leads to any negative consequences. [1.12]

23. Summarize the parable of the elephant.

The parable tells of an encounter between several blind men and a large pachyderm. As each of the men touches various parts of the animal, they each advocate a different interpretation for the nature of the animal. The man who touches the trunk believes the animal to be snakelike, while the man who encounters the tusk proclaims that it is like a spear, and so on. [1.13]

24. What is the moral of the elephant parable?

The moral of the parable is that every worldview is correct in its respective interpretation of reality, because no single worldview has the entire picture. The application we are to take away from this parable is essentially that competing worldviews should be careful not to make exclusive claims about the world in which we live. Since every worldview can only see part of the elephant, no worldview should make generalizations about the whole of reality. [1.13]

25. What is the fundamental problem with the elephant parable?

The fundamental problem with the parable is that the application is a contradiction. The lesson of the parable is that everyone is limited to only a small portion of the elephant, yet the only way to understand this lesson is to see all of the parts of the elephant simultaneously. How can anyone know that we all have limited knowledge unless someone has knowledge of the entire picture? [1.13]
