T 20. Our physical bodies are an essential part of our identity. _____

Fill-in-the-blank [Each answer is worth 2 points. Question 23 is worth 4 points.]

Fill in the missing word(s) to complete each statement.

21. The term gender dysphoria describes a condition of persistent distress over one's biological sex.
22. We don't only bear God's image in a generic way, but also as male and female.
23. Two major factors contributing to today's disconnection of self from the body are the postmodern worldview and advances in technology.
24. "So flee youthful passions and pursue righteousness, faith, love, and peace, along with those who call on the Lord from a pure heart." (2 Timothy 2:22)
25. The physical attributes that code our bodies as male or female are collectively called biological sex.
26. Gender identity is a term used to describe an individual's internal sense of gender, which may or may not match one's biological sex.
27. Sexual orientation is a term used to describe one's sexual feelings, specifically the sex(es) to which an individual experiences attraction.

Short Answer [Each question is worth 3 points.]

Answer the following questions using complete sentences.

28. Explain the difference between gender dysphoria and gender identity.
Gender dysphoria is a sense of distress over one's own biological sex. Gender identity is a person's internal sense of who they think they are, which may not match their biological sex.
29. Do sexual attractions define a Christian's identity? Explain.
No, sexual attractions do not define a Christian's identity because as Christians our identity is in Christ. Our temptations or the sins we struggle with are part of our experience, but they're aren't part of who we are.
30. What does it mean that marriage is a one-flesh union?
Marriage is a one-flesh union because a man and woman come together in a physical bond that can't be accomplished by two people of the same sex. This union allows new life to be created and bonds the couple in a unique way.

Essay [Each question is worth 5 points.]

Answer the following questions with at least one paragraph.

31. What does the biblical creation story teach us about what it means to be human in both body and soul? Possible answer: The creation story teaches us that both the human body and the human soul were originally “good. In the beginning, Adam and Eve weren’t damaged by sin or suffering. When God created them, they were “very good.” The narrative shows us that we are created beings with limits, which are good. Because we are made in God’s image, we are valuable in both body and soul. And we’re valuable as male and female. Creation also shows that our bodies are personal. They are an essential part of our identity. So, we need to embrace God’s design for us, body and soul.

32. How does the fall help us understand our culture’s view of sex, gender, and marriage? How does Jesus provide the answer for sin and biological brokenness? Possible answer: The fall helps us understand not only why the culture believes wrong things about sex, gender, and marriage, but also why we need a solution beyond ourselves. The fall brought sin, shame, pain and suffering, dysphoria, and death into the world. This is why our culture celebrates sin and tries to overcome the fall’s other effects with human strength alone. But these efforts will fail because we weren’t meant to be our own creator or savior. Jesus provides the only way to wholeness and salvation from sin and brokenness. Because he took on human flesh, Jesus understands our limitations and could take our deserved place on the cross. Because he physically rose again, Jesus overcame sin and brokenness. He made a way for us to be set free and restored. Only by trusting in him for salvation and daily strength can we fight temptation and hope for a future resurrection free from sin and death.
